The Arab Centre for the Independence of the Judiciary and the Legal Profession (ACIJLP) is participating in the 24th session of the Assembly of States Parties to the International Criminal Court, scheduled to be held in The Hague from 1 to 6 December.

The session will examine the challenges facing the International Criminal Court recently, with the participation of delegations from member and non-member states, civil society organizations, and regional and international institutions.

The agenda of the session includes extensive discussions and deliberations on the Court's activity reports, the activities of the Office, and the report of the Board of Directors of the Trust Fund for Victims. The session will also address the organization of the Court's work, the election of members of the Budget and Finance Committee, and the election of a new member of the Board of Directors of the Trust Fund for Victims.

The ACIJLP will convene a side event on the sidelines of the session to discuss "The Current Position of Arab states toward the International Criminal Court". The event will take place on the third day of the session, with the participation of Arab organizations affiliated with the Arab Coalition for the International Criminal Court, as well as Palestinian organizations recently subjected to US sanctions.
